Northern Missouri Bore The Brunt of Overnight Snow, Highways Blocked

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 28.—(P)—Winter's savage thrust in Missouri followed through today with a cold wave after four days of sleet, rain and snow.

It swept out of the northwest with high winds, which drifted a heavy snowfall which ranged up to 10 inches along the Iowa border.

The mercury, which fell rapidly during the night, was expected to plunge down to five below in the north and to five to 10 above elsewhere.

Northern Missouri bore the brunt of the overnight snow, blocking highways and closing schools. Unionville had 10 inches; Chillicothe nine, Kirksville eight and St. Joseph and Maryville five. East-west highways in Nodaway county were closed, forcing many schools to close. Burlington trailways cancelled all bus schedules out of Maryville. The state highway department reported it was keeping highway U. S. 71 open, but the surface was slippery.

OMAHA, Jan. 28.—(P)—Nebraska's blizzard troubles reached new peaks today in the wake of a new storm, bringing 12 inches of snow in Omaha and lesser amounts outstate.

"Human distress and misery are worse right this morning than at any time since the storm began," said Brig. Gen. Guy N. Heninger, who is directing the state's blizzard relief operations.

Gov. Val Peterson estimated $320,000,000 worth of cattle in Nebraska's distress area are in jeopardy.

Highways Hazardous

While the northern border counties battled the drifting snow, the rest of the state still was in the grip of the crippling effects of sleet, freezing mist and torrential rains.

Although highways outside the snow area were open, generally they were hazardous. In southern Missouri dozens of cities were cut off from outside communication, others were without power. The flood situation was easing in the southeast.

A light snow fell this morning at Carthage, Joplin, Springfield, Columbia, and Sedalia. In southeast Missouri the heavy rains stopped yesterday as the mercury fell. At Cape Girardeau the total rainfall since Sunday was 6.46 inches, bringing the total for the month to 12.56.

Telephone Company Damages

The Southwestern Bell Telephone company, which estimated its losses from ice storms this week at $3,000,000, today reported widespread disruption of service. It reported 400 long distance circuits out of the state. At Springfield alone, 135 of the 200 long distance lines were out of order.

Towns and cities isolated included Mexico, Fulton, Wellsville, Mansfield, Ava, Willow Springs, Gainesville, Mountain View, Mountain Grove, Thayer, Branson, Cabool, Galena, Lebanon and many others.

West Plains, without power since Tuesday night, had partial service restored, enough to pump water and serve the three hospitals.

The State Highway Patrol radio today near Fort Leonard Wood collapsed last night when an ice-laden pole crashed on a guy wire.

Snow at Macon

Four inches of snow fell at Macon, where schools have been closed until Monday because of road and highway conditions. Highways U. S. 36 and 63 in that area are covered with ice and packed snow. The highway department described them as slick but passable.

The general situation had improved in southwestern Missouri. Buses were moving again. Highways in the area still were spotty with ice.

St. Louis streets were cleared of ice to some extent by yesterday's rain. Highway travel to the south and southwest had improved.

In the Hannibal area highways still were covered with rough ice. Hannibal public schools were closed.

Toll Lines Out

Some trees and wires were down in Jefferson City. Toll lines between the capital city and Kansas City were out, and all but three to St. Louis were out of operation.

The Black River and other streams were back in their banks in southeast Missouri. The Red Cross at Poplar Bluff said most of the refugees had returned to their homes.

A four inch snowfall at Trenton drifted on county roads forcing several rural schools to close. Some school buses were unable to make their rounds. Rock Island trains from Minneapolis and Chicago were running as much as two hours late.

Star Sonja Henie's Apartment Robbed

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—(P)—Thieves ransacked the fashionable hotel apartment of ice-skating star Sonja Henie last night and stole two mink coats valued at $28,000 but apparently left her jewelry intact.

The coats were taken from Miss Henie's suite at the Hotel Pierre on 61st street and 5th avenue. The loss was discovered by the star's mother who occupies an adjoining apartment.

Hope Truman Names Board; Delay Strike

Engineer's Dispute With Railroad in Emergency Stage

CHICAGO, Jan. 28.—(P)—Two new breaks appeared near today in the nation's tensing railroad labor-management situation.

1. A federal mediation board in Washington was ready to report to President Truman that a strike is threatened Monday against 15 western railroads by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

2. Negotiations between the carriers and 16 non-operating unions representing 1,000,000 workers throughout the country—who can strike at any moment—appeared near a crisis.

The engineers' dispute with the 15 western lines has reached the emergency stage, and both labor and management observers said they believe that the President will appoint a fact-finding board.

Under the railway labor act, Presidential intervention would postpone the threatened strike at least 60 days.

Demand Extra Man

The engineers have demanded that the railroads employ an extra engineer on units multiple diesel. The present crew consists of one engineer and one fireman. This case is complicated by demands of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers similar to those of the engineers. Only, the firemen insist that the third crew member on multiple unit locomotives be a fireman. The railroads have protested a third member of such crews is unnecessary.

The firemen's negotiations with the carriers have broken off, and the federal mediation step is next. But mediation is awaiting return to Chicago of the board in Washington to report results of the engineers' case.

Negotiating Today

The non-operating unions, whose memberships approved a nation-wide strike several months ago, are in negotiating sessions with the carriers here today.

The unions attained eligibility to strike Jan. 17 after going through all preliminary steps required by the law.

A presidential emergency board which investigated the non-operating unions' demands recommended that the railroads grant the unions a seven-cent hourly wage increase, retroactive to Oct. 1, 1948, and that workers be shifted from a 48-hour weekly work basis to a 40-hour week without loss of pay Sept. 1 of this year.

Both sides found fault with the emergency board's recommendations, but agreed to use them as a basis for renewed negotiations.

His Front Door Was Frozen Tight

GARDEN CITY, Kas., Jan. 28.—(P)—Jim Ford was frozen in this morning.

He couldn't get out of his house because his front door was frozen tight by icicles running down the roof.

After a little hollering, neighbor Pete Schefflein came to his aid and chopped the thick layers of ice off with an axe.

Suffers Heart Attack

HANNIBAL, Mo., Jan. 28.—(P)—William A. Cable, managing editor of the Hannibal Courier-Post, is resting comfortably in a hospital following a severe heart attack.

St. Louis Showing 50 Million Dollars Worth of Paintings

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 28.—(P)—Fifty million dollars worth of European masterpieces from Berlin museums arrived in St. Louis today for exhibition at the City Art Museum Sunday through February 17.

The paintings were discovered by the U. S. Third Army in German salt mines where they had been hidden. Their current tour of 13 museums is sponsored by the Army.

Members of the Missouri National Guard, the police department and Military Police of the Fifth Army Headquarters have been assigned to guard the 19-day display. The City Art Museum will

Landlords Get Rent Increase In Middle of Revolt Meeting

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 28.—(P)—The landlords got a $90 rent increase.

And it came right in the middle of a meeting they called to discuss a revolt against pending rent control legislation.

A note was handed Thurman L. McCormick, executive director of the Property Owners Association's meeting last night.

It said the rent on their meeting place had been raised from $10 to $100 a night.

The All Souls Unitarian church rents the meeting hall. The Rev. R. Lester Mondale, pastor of the church, said in a letter to the association the hike was not to be understood as a withdrawal of the property for rental purposes.

It added: "Of course, if this should be prohibitive we also trust that your organization—since it is not exactly in the class of a family facing eviction—will suffer no considerable inconvenience in locating an equally satisfactory meeting place."

Said McCormick: "It just shows how reasonable our demands are. If rents have gone up that much in the last few days, we aren't asking for much."

The 150 persons attending the meeting voted their sympathy to a movement started by Tulsa landlords to evict tenants as a protest against rent control proposals before Congress.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—(P)—The five-cent cigar staged a comeback in New York today.

For the first time since the war nickel stogies were on sale again in this city.

They represented the smoker's dividend on a general three-month price decline reported by the Bureau of Labor statistics in Washington.

President Truman told a news conference yesterday their plan of mass evictions was the wrong approach to the problem and he did not think they would get away with it.

The national housing expediter said his office would go into the courts to stop evictions if necessary.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 28.—(P)—The St. Louis Real Estate board announced today it is "emphatically opposed" to a landlords' movement for mass eviction of tenants as a protest against new rent control bills pending in Congress.

The Rev. Wallace J. Murphy, a leader in the action started by the Tulsa Property Owners Association, termed Mr. Truman's statement puzzling.

Murphy, a Baptist minister, claims he and other landlords can't operate if pending rent control bills before Congress become law and therefore they are sending their tenants eviction notices.

At Kansas City the move gained some support last night. The Property Owners Association of Kansas City voted their sympathy and support to the action, but left the matter of evictions up to the discretion of each owner.

Tighe E. Woods, national housing expediter, said:

"If landlords refuse to withdraw notices the Office of Housing Expediter will seek to enjoin such evictions by action in the courts."

Unprofitable Business
"We are American business men," he said. "We simply want to go out of business. It is unprofitable."

Shortly after he answered the president, Murphy suffered a heart attack, his second in eight weeks.

United States Should Save Eroding Soil

Rep. Christopher, Mo., Writes Bates County Farmers

By Charles Haslet
AP Special Washington Service

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—(P)—The United States has less than 100 years of "virile national existence" unless it takes prompt, ample steps to save eroding top soil, Rep. Christopher (D-Mo.), a farmer, said today.

"We have the knowledge that will prevent our downfall but we must put that knowledge into practice," he said in a letter he made public which he sent to farmers of Bates county, Mo., who recently met to discuss soils.

"We dare not wait and ponder our plight. Thousands of our farms that once were fertile and productive are even now laying stark stripped and naked under the sky. We must act now while we still possess the ability to act."

"Live or Die"
New fertile soils and new river valleys found by pioneers as they pushed westward have been "exploited and robbed," he said, and after asserting there now are no more new lands to cultivate in this country, added:

"We must live or die, survive or perish right where we are."

Christopher said that last month he drove from Butler, Mo., to Washington by way of St. Louis, Vincennes, Ind., Louisville and Parkersburg, W. Va.

"Not even one per cent of the land I saw on the trip had terrace protection," he wrote.

"A few terraces in Missouri and a very few in Illinois. Some blue grass around Louisville giving protection to the Kentucky hills but used exclusively for race horse pasture."

"Save Bates County Farm"
"From Louisville to Washington, ruin, such as I have never seen before, field after field with 90 per cent of the top soil gone and still planted with corn up and down the slopes that run as high as 20 per cent. Little piles of corn fodder and little one ton stacks of broomsage hay stacked around a pole."

"No alfalfa, no sweet clover, no silos, no terraces, no evidence of living. I never saw a lime truck between Louisville and Washington."

He said he wrote home to his sons farming in Missouri:

"For God's sake save that Bates county (Mo.) farm, the country is going to need it badly."

Condition Of Chaos Spreading

As Acting Head Of China Appeals To Communists For Peace Talks

By The Associated Press
Acting President Li Tsung-Jen of China appealed today to the Communists to name the place and negotiations for peace talks.

Meanwhile chaos, a condition favoring Communism, spread through the sprawling country.

Premier Sun Fo and Foreign Minister Wu Te-Chen, regarded as the main advocates for fighting on, were strangely missing and perhaps in conference with Chiang Kai-Shek. Friends said they feared Li might hand them over to the Communists as war criminals. One report was that a move was afoot to establish a fugitive government in revolt against Li, with Chiang probably again at the head.

Troops Revolt
A regiment of Nationalist troops revolted at Peiping when ordered into Red territory. Their commander, Gen. Shih Chueh, had opposed bitterly giving up Peiping with hardly a battle. The city apparently is to be taken over by a joint committee of four Communists and three Nationalists.

In flight from the Communists, more than 600 persons were believed drowned when two ships collided 100 miles south of Shanghai.

Armistice talks between Egypt and Israel seemed about to fail. The Jews refused to give up gains in the Negev desert of southern Palestine although some were in territory allotted the Arabs under partition.

NANKING, Jan. 28.—(P)—In the chaos of war China awaited an uncertain New Year tonight amid a great sea tragedy, the roar of guns and waning peace hopes.

The lunar year of the rat expires at midnight and the year of the ox begins. The New Year looked dark for the vast country.

Hunt Lost Plane
American planes hunted wide areas of Europe, Africa and the Atlantic for a B-29 Superfortress lost between Dakar and England with 15 aboard.

Burma Rebels, many of whom are Communists, won a firm grip on the Rangoon-Mandalay railroad in an apparent effort to seal Rangoon off from the rest of the country. They captured the rail towns of Toungoo and Pyu. The Communist guerrillas of Greece offered total peace if Communist conditions are accepted. One of these is that American aid be cut off. The government put out strong hints it was not interested.

Rumors on Russia
Rumors continued that Russian Vice-Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky is in Czechoslovakia, possibly trouble shooting for the thing called the Economic Council of Mutual Aid—Russia's counter-part of the Marshall plan.

The foreign ministers of Sweden, Norway and Denmark reached Oslo to resume talks of a Scandinavian defense alliance. The views of Sweden and Norway seemed too far apart for agreement. Norway wants an alliance and weapons from the western nations, meaning the United States. Sweden wants only neutrality and no ties to the proposed North Atlantic alliance.

McKinley Day Banquet Plans
Representative Dewey Short, Missouri's only Republican member of the House, who will speak at the McKinley Day banquet at the Hotel Bothwell, at 6:30 o'clock Saturday night, is expected to arrive in Sedalia late after noon, according to Carl G. Schraeder, Republican county and city committee chairman, who will introduce Short at the meeting.

The program will consist of group singing of the "Star Spangled Banner" with Miss Geraldine Teufel, piano accompanist; songs by a quartette composed of A. V. Domingue, Addison Taylor, Dean Binderup and Charles Maggard; Miss Lillian Fox, accompanist, and the talk by Representative Short.

Gallup Says He Will Continue Taking Polls

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—(P)—George Gallup, replying to a comment of President Truman, today defended public opinion polls as "one of the most useful instruments of Democracy ever devised."

The President, whose defeat in the November election was predicted by the Gallup poll, said yesterday he had no use for the Gallup poll or any others.

Mr. Truman had been asked for comment on a recent Gallup finding that 69 per cent of the voters approve of his actions.

Gallup, director of the American Institute of Public Opinion, said in a statement, "I have the greatest admiration for President Truman, because he fights for what he believes. I propose to do the same thing."

"As long as public opinion is important in this country and until someone finds a better way of appraising it, I intend to go right ahead with the task of reporting the opinions of the people on issues vital to their welfare."

"I am confident that historians of the future will regard the public opinion poll as one of the useful instruments of Democracy ever devised."

Hint Wages Have Reached Postwar Peak

300,000 Workers Stand to Take Pay Reduction

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—(P)—The economic winds stirred up a hint today that wages, like prices, may have reached a postwar peak. In some cases, they may have started a downward trend.

More than 300,000 auto and electrical workers of the General Motors Corp., stand to take a two or three-cent an hour pay cut on the basis of the government's declining cost-of-living index.

And officials of at least one major union, the CIO's Amalgamated Clothing Workers, said they have decided against a fourth round of postwar pay boosts because of slackened demand for men's apparel.

"We're practical realists, you know," one clothing union official told a reporter. "We've decided against asking for any new wage increase now, even though our members feel the pinch, too, because right now our industry is soft."

Officials of the union, holding a powwow here, said consumers have had to pay so much for food in the past year they had little left to buy clothing but now that food and other items are coming down:

"Maybe the consumer will have more money in his pocket to buy the clothes we make."

The clothing workers are the fourth largest CIO union; only the steel workers, auto workers and electrical workers unions are larger.

Pay cuts for the auto and electrical workers employed by General Motors appear imminent because their wages are tied by agreement to the government living cost index.

Third Decline
The index took its third straight monthly decline yesterday to 171.4. This covered December prices and was one-half of one per cent below November and 1.8 per cent below the August-September peak.

But prices still are high—29 per cent above OPA-controlled levels in 1946.

Labor experts say declining prices are bound to have their effects on wage negotiations this spring.

The Presence of God

Reason and faith teach that God is everywhere. The omnipresence of God should be a subject of frequent meditation, not only because it is a profoundly impressive truth, but because it engenders greater devotion to Him in the human soul.

God is present in all His creatures by His knowledge and by His power and wisdom. His wisdom, says Scripture, "reacheth from end to end mightily and ordereth all things sweetly." Thinking about the presence of God can be wonderfully consoling; for no matter where we are or in what circumstance, He sees us, and knows intimately our needs and hungers.

There are no days, however dark and hopeless some may seem, which cannot be brightened by reflection on the presence of God. God is with us when we awaken. He is with us as we walk or take the train to work. He is with us when we sit at home reading a book. He is even with us when we go to the movies or watch a baseball or football game.

This perpetual presence of God should stimulate us at least to occasional recognition. God does not demand that we think of Him every conscious moment, but He does expect us to salute Him frequently during the day. We need not formulate any particular greeting in our minds or hearts. But we should meditate, however briefly, on the nearness of God. We cannot see Him, but He is always with us, always ready to make precious the slightest expression of our gratitude and our dependence upon Him.

Meditating on God's presence will give us comfort, especially when we are sorrowful or depressed. It will help us not only to conquer temptation, but to advance in virtue. It will enable us to discharge more conscientiously our duties in life, to be more charitable to others, to face the future with more confidence and serenity. It will help us to walk becomingly with God until that momentous day when we shall stand forever in His visible presence.

Sunday School Lesson

Jesus Never Succumbed To Temptation

By William E. Gilroy, D.D.

The writer of the Book of Hebrews says (Hebrews 4:15) that Jesus "was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin." We speak of "the temptation of Jesus" though as Matthew records them in Matthew 4, the temptations were three.

It is important, however, to realize that, if Jesus were tempted as we are, the temptations were not only three, nor were they ill at that one time. As we read the Gospels we can see how persistent were the temptations to which the Master was subject.

How else can we interpret His passionate rebuke of Peter, "Get thee behind me, Satan," when Peter had said to Him, "Be it far from Thee, Lord," when the Master had spoken of His prospective sufferings and death? Was it not that Peter was voicing the temptation from which Jesus himself to renounce His mission and destiny, and turn from that way of sacrifice?

And was it not this same temptation with which the Master struggled in that agony in the Garden of Gethsemane, when He prayed earnestly that the cup might pass from Him?

No, the temptation of Jesus was not all of one time or place. For Him, as for us, it lasted all thru to the end, and His admonition to the disciples was, "Watch and pray."

But the three temptations of Jesus that Matthew records were basic and had a significance beyond any later, or inherent, temptation. There is a point in all of our lives at which temptation is crucial, at which the decision we make or the victory we achieve determines and marks our whole life. That decision, or victory, may have to be repeated and reaffirmed. But it is the determining point, that tells whether life is to be for God, or for self, for the highest and best, or for some lower aim of ease and pleasure, wealth or fame.

In those three temptations of Jesus the ambitious man have sought; power of achievement, "Command that these stones be made bread"; the sense of personal grandeur and superiority, "Cast thyself down" (from the pinnacle of the temple); and wealth, combined with power "All these things will I give thee."

They were the temptations to which strong men have succumbed, and to which Jesus, conscious of a great possible destiny, must have been susceptible, or the temptation could have had little reality. He was tempted, as He was tempted later, even to the last hour. But He never failed.

His triumph was in the humble and courageous submission to the Father's will. "Nevertheless, not my will, but Thine be done."

Identifies Dead Man As Cotton Picker
 HUGO, Okla., Jan. 28 — (P) — George Bickerstaff, Hope, Ark., said Thursday a man found dead near here was not his father but an itinerant cotton picker who had worked for him three years. Bickerstaff came here Thursday after a letter with his name was found on the body of the man found east of here. Bickerstaff said he knew the man only as Dad Hendrix. He was 86 years old. Death was attributed to a heart attack.
 At first, it was believed the dead man was Conroe Bickerstaff, 70, Denver.

Confirm Loveland To Agriculture Post
 WASHINGTON, Jan. 28 — (P) — Senate Thursday confirmed Albert J. Loveland as undersecretary of agriculture. The Iowa, who was named by President Truman during the congressional recess, was approved unanimously.

Social Events

A most delightful program "Around the Clock With Music" was enjoyed by the members of the Helen G. Steele Music Club on Wednesday, with Mrs. Frank Evans and Mrs. Leonard Peabody as co-chairmen.
 To the ringing of an alarm clock the musicians filed into the auditorium. The platform was graced with a large drum, whose side portrayed the face of a clock, with notes to mark the hours and a clef holding the hands at the center, these hands signaling the opening hour.
 Mrs. George Miller as narrator, rendered poems composed by Miss Catherine Rhiner of Smith Cotton High School, which took members through the "brief minutes and hours of an interesting day."
A Rhythmic Melody
 The first number, "Minute Waltz" by Chopin, was beautifully executed by Mrs. Ed Ringgen and Mrs. Ralph Salmon. "In ancient times, men told time by the hour glass; but now we look upon the clock's bold staring face," so our trio sang "The Clock," by Frank V. Van Der Stucken; a very rhythmic melody, with the alto carrying a distinct "tick-tock" throughout the song and in conclusion a coo-coo clock on the west wall added its echo.
 "When a new day dawns, dark of night must go," which it did, when Mrs. Metcalf, in clear tones sang "Dawn Awaits," by Braine, accompanied by Miss Lillian Fox.
 The sextet, under the direction of Mrs. A. R. Beach, accompanied by Mrs. Fred Ross sang in true Bach style, "Sleeper Wake." They displayed the fact that they had been under skilled supervision.
A Clever Arrangement
 There was "Sun on dew drops as the world wakes to greet the morn" as Mrs. W. L. Lewis sang "Morning" by Speaks, with Mrs. Duane Ewing as accompanist. The song unfolded as the day unfolds before the morning sun.
 "Mid-day—no shadows fall at noon—as the hours go on" Mrs. Peabody brought to us "Noon and Night" and the sextet sang "Noon."
 As the shadows lengthen there must of course be "Tea for Two," which was a very clever arrangement given by Mrs. Wm. Bunn and Mrs. Ewing at the two pianos. After tea, little maids go for a walk as "Chit Chat" was vocalized by the trio.
 "Shadows deepen—The Queen of Night (the moon) moves in" to cast her spell while "Birdsong at Eventide" by Coates was the next number given by Mrs. Frank Evans. "How beautiful is night" was set forth in Cyril Jenkins' "Night in the Desert," by the trio.
 The program would not have been complete without Mrs. Henry C. Salveter's rendition of "Liebestraum" (Dream of Love).
 A combination of trio and sextet brought two concluding numbers. Miss Mabel DeWitt and Mrs. Fred Ross at the two pianos gave a prelude to these, in beautiful, ringing tones. These two numbers, "Night and Day" by Cole Porter, and "When Day Is Done," by Katcher-Lawrence, were given forth in style and tones of artists, bringing the "day" to a close, that caused everyone to feel that it was a "day" well spent.
 Sextette: Mrs. James Jolly, Miss Shirley Wimer, Mrs. Harold Hausman, Mrs. William Ward, Mrs. Robert Long, Mrs. William Cooper, under the direction of Mrs. A. R. Beach.
 Trio: Mrs. Frank Evans, Mrs. Leonard Peabody, Mrs. Robert Seelen, under the direction of Mrs. Leone Metcalf.
 Accompanists: Mrs. Duane Ewing, Miss Lillian Fox, Mrs. Leone Metcalf, Mrs. Fred Ross.
 Mrs. E. F. Yancey, president, opened and closed the meeting.

The January meeting of the Smithton Garden club was held Thursday at the home of Mrs. Audrey Neumeyer.
 Miss Kruse, president, gave a brief talk on plans for the club

Lamb Cushion Shoulder is a Plentiful Meal

 There's nothing better to inspire appetites than a juicy tender cut of lamb. And a good cut to serve often is lamb cushion shoulder. When stuffed, this cut has a plump generous look about it that is especially inviting.
 In other kinds of meat, the shoulder cuts are considered less tender and must be cooked with moist heat to make them tender. Lamb, however, is tender in all its cuts except the shank and breast, so the cushion shoulder may be roasted. Therefore, it is more than suitable for a Sunday dinner or a "company meal."
Appearing Menu Scheme
 Be sure to make the stuffed lamb shoulder as appetizing as it looks by paying particular attention to the stuffing. A flavorful stuffing made with whole kernel corn is a good choice. If you select this, you might serve tart little poached apples as a saucy garnish. Creamed potatoes and peas for a vegetable and a tomato-endive salad would be good accompaniments, and for dessert, how about chocolate sundaes? There is nature's abundance personified!

 Another stuffing that is particularly appealing with lamb is a mint stuffing: your favorite bread stuffing with fresh or dried mint leaves added. The mint flavor is a favorite with lamb, of course, and this is a novel way to introduce it. Or you might stuff the cavity in the lamb shoulder with a mixture of cooked rice and grated pineapple (fruit flavors are especially good with lamb) and serve strawberry jelly as an accompaniment.

Couple Wedded 77 Years Ago
 SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Jan. 28 — (P) — Sam and Emma Mercer quietly observed their 77th wedding anniversary Thursday. They hope it's a record.
 "Do you know of anyone in the United States who has been married longer than we have?" was one of Mercer's first questions to a reporter.
 Two years ago and again last year stories of the Mercers were printed widely. No one was known to have challenged their mark.
 Mercer, at 95 is the oldest man in Sioux Falls. His wife is 94. Much has happened to the enduring couple since that day 77 years ago when they were married at Arena, Wis.
 After their marriage the Mercers lived in Iowa and then moved by covered wagon to Missouri. One of their favorite stories concerns how they were stopped and questioned by Jesse and Frank James. The family later settled at Whitman, Mo., where their nearest

Lumbermen Critical of Housing Bill

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 28.—(P)—The government's housing program was attacked as "another step toward a totalitarian state" yesterday by the Southwestern Lumbermen's Association.

Meeting for its annual convention, the association adopted a resolution stating that the government "can accomplish most for housing by continuing provisions of FHA, thus making financing available for new construction."

The resolution specifically criticized a public housing bill now pending in the Senate that would provide for construction of a million low-rent dwellings in the next seven years.

Opposition was also urged to further general freight rate increases and any boost in federal income taxes.

Kermit W. Ingham, Stillwater, Okla., was named president of the association. Vice presidents elected were Charles E. Kemer, Troy, Mo.; Clarence D. Burkholder, McPherson, Kas.; and Henry Jones, Little Rock, Ark.

Directors named were: Missouri—Marvin Malin, Caruthersville; Bill Putnam, Carthage; Harry L. McIntire, Oregon, Kan.—Chet McAllister, Garden City; Alex Esch, Pittsburg; Tom Griffith, Manhattan; Jack Davis, Hutchinson.

Oklahoma—Dave Wilson, Muskogee; Oral Williamson, Bartlesville; Bill Stewart, Jr., Shawnee; Arkansas—C. W. Bone, Fayetteville; Paul M. Leird, Little Rock.

Budget Safe From Big Cuts

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—(P)—President Truman's $14,268,000,000 defense budget for the fiscal year starting in July appeared safe from major slashes today, although the Air Force may get a bigger share than the president said.

House appropriations committee members said as much following an off-the-record session with Secretary of Defense Forrestal and other top military leaders yesterday.

Congress may give the Air Force enough money for a 70-group force instead of the 48 requested by Mr. Truman, they indicated, but simply transferring to it an estimated $800,000,000 set aside in the budget for universal military training.

"Congress just isn't going to pass a UMT bill," a committee member said.

The case for an Air Force with more groups than the president has requested is being built up in the House armed services committee.

Scott Wins by 54 to 50 Vote

OMAHA, Neb., Jan. 28.—(P)—Hugh D. Scott Jr., held a shaky record of authority over the Republican national committee to win in a trial run of his chairmanship.

Some members, like Rep. Clarence Brown of Ohio, thought it might be no more than 6 months before Scott's hard won reputation of his office is challenged again.

The 48-year-old Pennsylvania congressman hand picked by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey for his party job had a slender 54 to 50 vote of committee confidence hanging on his belt.

Harry Darby of Kansas, one of Scott's chief supporters in the bitter fight to split the Republican party since the Bull Moose movement of 1912, told a reporter things are a lot better than they look on the surface.

"I think he'll do a swell job and all of this will be forgotten," Darby declared.

But Brown, a supporter of Senator Robert A. Taft, wasn't so sure.

"I don't think any chairman who finds his committee divided about 50-50 is going to be happy," the Ohio congressman told a reporter.

Ready to Fight Mass Evictions

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—(P)—Republicans and Democrats agreed today with President Truman that landlords are making a bad mistake if they try to evict tenants as a protest against rent control.

Senate Democratic leader Lucas of Illinois told a reporter that Senators certainly will look into these evictions when they consider extending federal rent control that expires March 31.

"I think it's a most extraordinary and shameful performance," Lucas added.

Senator Saltonstall (R-Mass.), acting Republican leader, said: "Personally, I don't think actions of that kind help in the solution of different problems."

Mr. Truman told his news conference yesterday he did not believe the landlords could get away with the evictions. He said the plan originated in Tulsa, Okla.

Tighe Woods, who administers the federal rent control program, jumped into action with a promise to fight such mass evictions in court.

Examination Paper Blank

DETROIT, Jan. 28.—(P)—Tony Zoski, 31, is rewriting his semester examination today for his pre-law course at Wayne university.

He wrote the exam once on his typewriter. Then he rewrote it twice to be sure it was worded the way he wanted it. He handed the finished copy to Assistant Prof. Fred C. Hamill.

But the paper was blank. "I could see you wrote an examination paper," Hamill told the surprised student. "But I don't know what you wrote."

Tony then discovered his typewriter ribbon had stuck as he began his chore. The keys cut into the paper, but left no clear impression. When Hamill learned that, he gave his pupil added time to start over again.

You see, Tony has been totally blind since he was 10 years old.

Looking Backward

• Forty Years Ago

At a meeting of the Sedalia Business Men's club, W. H. Barnett was elected president, W. M. Harris, vice-president; James K. Kidd, treasurer and J. W. Mellor, secretary.

Aaron Kingsbaker, former Sedalia, has purchased a ten-room stone and frame house in Kansas City.

Circuit Judge Louis Hoffman granted permission to change the name of St. Vincent's Catholic church to St. Patrick's church, after a number of parishioners had made application for permission to change the charter to conform to the latter name.

Leo Bloess, W. M. Johns and G. A. Sturges attended the convention of lumbermen in Kansas City this week.

N. I. Bushey returned today from a business visit in Warrensburg in the interest of the Bell Telephone company.

Sedalians Enjoy Florida
Mr. and Mrs. Lyman C. Keuper, 1806 West Broadway, who are sojourning in Florida, write friends from Ocala, stating they have visited Silver Springs, with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Haar, former Sedalians, whose home is only six miles from the Springs.

They had been around all day, they wrote, in their shirt sleeves. They were going from Ocala to Daytona Beach.

St. Louis Asks Rate Hearing

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 28.—(P)—Another request for a rehearing of increased Southwestern Bell telephone rates was filed with the Missouri Public Service Commission today.

The City of St. Louis joined Kansas City in objecting to the commission's findings. A rehearing was asked by Kansas City yesterday.

The commission granted Bell a $3,228,000 intrastate rate increase last week, effective Feb. 1.

George L. Stemmler, St. Louis city counselor, filed the rehearing application. He said there was no evidence to show the rate increase was "just and reasonable."

Stemmler also objected to the operating basis on which the commission based its findings. He said the report was based on a four-month period of operations projected to an annual basis. The actual operation expenditures should be considered, he argued, since actual figures now are available for 1947 and 1948.

Must Extend Some Controls

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—(P)—Secretary of Commerce Sawyer said today it may be possible to allow unlimited exports of grain and coal later this year.

But he told the Senate Banking committee that wartime powers to control exports, due to expire next month, must be extended to back up "national security and our foreign policy."

He wanted the extension for 28 months. By the end of that period, he suggested, the Marshall plan may have helped western Europe to a position of stability that would lessen the risks.

Sawyer was first of a series of administration witnesses urging Congress to enact the anti-inflation program promised by President Truman.

Continuation of controls over shipments from this country is an important part of that. On the House side of the capital, meanwhile, a rush tag was hung on a segment of that program.

extension for a while of the Republican system for splitting up of the supply of scarce materials at home.

Survivors May Be Signalling

LONDON, Jan. 28.—(P)—U. S. air force headquarters today said constant radio signals are coming from the area 150 miles northeast of the Canary Islands and are believed to be from survivors of a missing superfortress.

The American B-29 was lost yesterday with 15 men aboard on a flight from Dakar, West Africa, to England.

An oil slick was sighted by a French flying boat near the spot from which the radio signals are coming, headquarters said. The Canaries lie 700 to 900 miles southwest of Gibraltar off Dio De Oro. They are on the route from Dakar to England.

A B-17 flying fortress and a B-29 superfortress both were dispatched at once to search the area. British air force planes also helped in the hunt.

Three Killed in Subway Panic

BOSTON, Jan. 28.—(P)—At least three persons were reported killed today and an undetermined number injured in a crowded subway station swept by panic as sudden fire filled shafts and corridors with smoke.

The dead were two women and a man, taken unidentified to city hospital.

Police reported a screaming mob scene broke out in the underground State Street station near the waterfront, close to the heart of Boston's financial district.

Many persons were reported knocked down and hurt in a shouting scramble for a stairway leading to the street. Others injured were construction workers who were changing the entrance to the old station whose two story superstructure was a landmark in the district.

Police credited an unidentified person with sizing up the disaster swiftly and leading most of the passengers to safety along a subway platform to another emergency stairway exit.

First reports said a fire in the shaft of one of the four elevators in the station may have started from acetylene torches being used by workmen.

May Quit Giving Fire Loss Estimates

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 28.—(P)—Fire Chief Frank Egenriether says he is not going to give out any more estimates on fire losses because the Missouri Association of Insurance Agents is complaining.

The association, the chief said, yesterday, protested that the department's fire loss estimates published in newspapers make it more difficult to adjust the claims.

But mayor Kaufman may have the last word. He said he wants to discuss Egenriether's orders with the chief and the director of public safety.

Funeral services for Mrs. Martha Hurt, aged 72 of Buncheon, who died Tuesday morning, at the St. Joseph hospital, Boonville, Boonville, were held Thursday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock at the Pisgah church, near Buncheon.

The Reverend Edward A. Winchell, pastor of the Buncheon Baptist church, officiated. Burial was in the Pisgah cemetery.

She is survived by her husband, J. A. Hurt, three sons, Porter M. Hurt and Paul Hurt of Buncheon, and Emil Hurt of St. Joseph; two daughters, Mrs. J. A. Cole of Kansas, and Mrs. Jack Alley of Ottumwa and two brothers, George W. and Ben L. Morris, both of Pisgah.

Parker funeral service of Buncheon had charge of arrangements.

Sun Comes Out For Part of the Day

After days of varied precipitation, the sun was out part of the day, and was much more of an enjoyable day than yesterday, even though the temperature readings dropped down to 12 degrees.

It even surprised the weather man—public schools which closed Thursday for an indefinite period reopened today. Sedalia's parochial school will remain closed until Monday. There was about 50 to 60 per cent attendance in the grade schools and 300 absent from Smith-Cotton this morning.

All buses were reported to be meeting schedules at the two local bus companies, and trains are on time.

New York Star Closing Shop

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—(P)—The New York Star, formerly PM, is closing shop because of financial difficulties.

Today's issue is the last.

An announcement to readers said the Star's attempt to "publish a liberal newspaper" for "men and women who believe in the future of America" is being ended because of the paper's failure to obtain needed financial backing.

The tabloid daily, only metropolitan newspaper to support President Truman in the recent election campaign, was founded seven months ago as a successor to Marshall Field, 3rd's PM.

Bartley Crum, publisher, and Joseph Barnes, editor, said in a statement in the final issue that the paper had been unable to become self-supporting despite an increase in circulation and advertising.

Suspension of the Star affects about 400 employees, a spokesman said.

Roast Beef Got Him in The Army

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 28.—(P)—Plenty of roast beef and mashed potatoes had put a once-prowling Canadian youth into the U. S. army for the next six years.

Last April David A. Streit, 19, of Kitchener, Ont., hitchhiked from home eager to become a G. I. He was turned down at Chicago and Springfield, Ill., because he had only a temporary visa.

But Sgt. John T. McCue, looking for recruits, accosted Streit in the federal building here and okayed him as far as physical and mental tests were concerned. He advised Streit to return to Canada for a permanent visa and declare his intention of becoming an American citizen.

The youth returned to St. Louis Jan. 2 in a jubilant mood. But the strain of the battle against the international red tape had cut Streit's weight to only 108 pounds, 13 below the minimum.

Then a downtown restaurant operator took over. He gave Streit a job. Showned him a roast beef and mashed potatoes and the youth at meal-times for three weeks.

Streit left last night for Camp Chaffee, Ark.

Magistrate Case

Oma Hopkins, Sedalia, was fined $20 and costs in Magistrate court this morning on a charge of violation of unemployment compensation law.

Sedalia Wins Over Kennett By 62-61 Score

Windsor Pulls an Upset in Defeat Of Warrensburg

Tonight's schedule:
Windsor vs. Warsaw, 8:00.
Sedalia vs. Knob Noster, 9:30.
These games are the semi-finals.

Game Hotly Contested
The Sedalia Independents won the fastest game thus far of the MIBC tournament, sponsored by the Sedalia Lions club, by defeating Kennett 62 to 61 in a torrid final quarter, Thursday night at Convention hall. Windsor turned in an unexpected victory of 33 to 27 over Warrensburg, Warsaw defeated Napton by a 55 to 43 score. The final game was between Clinton and Knob Noster, which Knob Noster won, 47 to 29.

The Sedalia-Kennett game opened with an eight-point scoring spurge by Norman Thompson, Sedalia captain, and the score was 8 to 2 in less than two minutes of play. The game was very fast with tight man-to-man and basket zone guarding, but few called fouls. After ten minutes of free but inaccurate shooting the quarter score found Sedalia leading 15 to 12, with Norman Thompson having 12 of the 15 points. The tall, lanky, Kennett squad boasted six free throw points out of six attempts. An interesting fact about the Kennett team was that it was made up of three Turner brothers and two McHaney brothers.

The second quarter saw the speed increase even more, with few setup shots. However, as the teams began to loosen up, there was less of this free-throw shooting and more orderly play became the style for the time being. About five seconds before the end of the half, B. Turner of Kennett turned in the most spectacular shot of the evening—a toss made from within about three feet of the center line that went through the basket without so much as touching the rim. Half-time score was 28 to 27, with Kennett creeping up steadily. Only ten fouls were called, and both teams were very sharp in making 11 points from 15 free throw chances.

The second half opened with a Kennett scoring spree comparable to that of Sedalia in the first half. In about one and one-half minutes, Kennett led the game by 35 to 30, and a stunned Sedalia squad called time. Following this, the Sedalia squad became very jittery and Kennett jumped at their chance by piling up a 40 to 30 lead. With Sedalia still shaky, a few points were traded and some very fast interceptions were made. The third quarter ended with the score at 46 to 41, in Kennett's favor. Two beautiful long shots for Sedalia by Bud Michaels were the outstanding plays of the quarter.

Unsurpassed speed marked the entire fourth quarter, with many desperate shots going to waste for both teams. Finally, Sedalia recovered and tied the score at 50 to 50. From that time until the final horn, the crowd was repeatedly thrilled as the lead changed hands and the score was tied several times. Both sides turned in some beautiful baskets, but the shots that missed the ring were heartbreakers. Finally, with about ten seconds left to play and Sedalia holding an unsafe lead of only two points, Norman Thompson sank a free throw that gave his team a three point lead, and the game was over before Kennett had time to make two baskets. However, the fighting squad turned in one field goal to make the final score 62 to 61, in Sedalia's favor.

Norman Thompson starred in all departments for Sedalia, with 11 field goals and a free throw for a total of 27 points. G. Turner led off evenly matched Kennett five with 19 points.

It was a day of hard work, sweetened by laughter and happiness. Late in the afternoon, when the house was already beginning to regain its former gracious warmth, there was a ring at the front-door bell, and a voice called, "Hi—what's going on around here?"

Merry, in a gingham house-frock and a checked apron, a scarf twisted gypsy-wise about her hair, a smudge on one cheek and her hands frankly grimy, gasped and cried, "It's Tip!"

She raced down the stairs, brandishing a dustcloth, and hurried herself upon him, crying joyously, "Oh, Tip, isn't it wonderful? I'm home!"

Tip stared at her, held her a little away from him and said sternly, "Hi, this is a clean shirt and I just had my pants pressed! Home, Merry? For good?"

"Of course, Tip—and who cares about your old clean shirt? Only I guess I am a bit smudgy."

Tip laughed and bent his head and kissed her firmly.

"You are, and that's a fact. But you're still the prettiest girl I know, even with a smudge on your cheek and your paws grimy," he told her, and turned to greet Aunt Jane.

"Look, what's all this about? All of a sudden smoke was coming out of the chimneys and people were working out on the lawn trimming shrubbery and such. Everybody thought the place had been sold."

"Never, Tip! It's my home. And the millionaire hasn't yet been born who could scrape up enough money to buy it from me!" Merry told him radiantly.

Aunt Jane looked at his bewildered face and said briskly, "It's rather a long story, Tip. Merry, march yourself right upstairs and into the tub and a clean dress. Tip, make yourself at home, and stay for dinner. It'll be pot-luck, but Lizzie's supervising the pot, which

Merry, in a gingham house-frock and a checked apron, a scarf twisted gypsy-wise about her hair, a smudge on one cheek and her hands frankly grimy, gasped and cried, "It's Tip!"

She raced down the stairs, brandishing a dustcloth, and hurried herself upon him, crying joyously, "Oh, Tip, isn't it wonderful? I'm home!"

Tip stared at her, held her a little away from him and said sternly, "Hi, this is a clean shirt and I just had my pants pressed! Home, Merry? For good?"

"Of course, Tip—and who cares about your old clean shirt? Only I guess I am a bit smudgy."

Tip laughed and bent his head and kissed her firmly.

"You are, and that's a fact. But you're still the prettiest girl I know, even with a smudge on your cheek and your paws grimy," he told her, and turned to greet Aunt Jane.

"Look, what's all this about? All of a sudden smoke was coming out of the chimneys and people were working out on the lawn trimming shrubbery and such. Everybody thought the place had been sold."

"Never, Tip! It's my home. And the millionaire hasn't yet been born who could scrape up enough money to buy it from me!" Merry told him radiantly.

Aunt Jane looked at his bewildered face and said briskly, "It's rather a long story, Tip. Merry, march yourself right upstairs and into the tub and a clean dress. Tip, make yourself at home, and stay for dinner. It'll be pot-luck, but Lizzie's supervising the pot, which

Saich to Meet Dyer Today

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 28.—(P)—The new president of the St. Louis Cardinals planned a conference with Manager Eddie Dyer today in his first move as chief owner of the National league baseball club.

Fred M. Saich, 43-year-old business executive, yesterday bought controlling interest in the club from former President Robert E. Hannegan. Hannegan said he retired because of his health.

Saich called Dyer to St. Louis from his home in Houston, Tex. "I called Eddie to St. Louis as I believe he's the most important person with whom to discuss the team's problems and plans," Saich said.

Dyer already has signed a contract to manage the club in 1949. Saich said he would take active charge of the vast Cardinals organization. He pointed out that while serving as vice president of the club he visited all the Cardinals minor league teams and has a thorough knowledge of their operations.

The new president now owns about 90 per cent of the stock. The amount Hannegan received in the deal was unofficially estimated as ranging from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000. However, neither Hannegan, former postmaster-general, or Saich would say what the price was.

Offer Proposals On Pensions

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—(P)—
Veterans organizations asked congress Thursday to make 18,000,000 veterans of both world wars eligible for $60-a-month pension when they reach 60.

In a separate request, the Veterans of Foreign Wars proposed enactment of a World War II bonus law costing an estimated $15,000,000,000 to $20,000,000,000 in adjusted service compensation.

The pension proposals were presented by the VFW and the American Legion to the House veterans affairs committee.

That committee began hearings
today on a bill by its chairman, Rep. Rankin (D.-Miss.), to pay old age and non-service connected disability pensions to veterans of the last two wars. The minimum pension to a veteran, sick or well, would be $60 a month, beginning at the age of 60.

Unofficial estimates place the cost of the proposed pension at $2,000,000,000 to $3,000,000,000 a year. Some 3,500,000 veterans would be eligible within 10 years according to figures compiled by the Veterans Administration.

Veterans spokesmen said they were unable to give the committee any estimates now of peak pension costs.

The VFW's bonus proposal, already introduced in the house by Rankin in a separate bill, would pay World War II veterans at the rate of $3 a day for service in the United States but not to exceed $3,500, and $4 a day for service overseas and not exceeding $4,500.

The cost figures of $15,000,000,000 to $20,000,000,000 are those of the VFW.

The Rankin pension bill, drafted from American Legion recommendations, provides payments ranging from $60 at 60 to $90 at 65.

In addition, it offers pensions for non-service connected disabilities ranging from $20 to $90 a month, and $120 a month in cases where the veterans require an attendant because of helplessness.

The Daily Washington Merry-go-Round

by Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Certain Democratic senators are boiling mad at the state department and even inked at the White House for trying to tell them not to support United Nations policy regarding the Dutch in Indonesia.

The incident is extremely significant. It may indicate what some diplomats have suspected, that the state department was talking loud about forcing the Dutch to pipe down in Indonesia, while playing footsie with the Dutch under the table.

Here is the inside story of what happened. Last week, 12 senators drafted a resolution vigorously supporting United States and United Nations positions regarding Dutch high handedness in Indonesia. Most of the resolution simply repeated the U. S.- U. N. demands that the Dutch release political prisoners and retreat to their original lines.

Then the senators added one more clause. They proposed that if Holland did not comply with U.S.-U.N. demands all Marshall plan aid be cut off to both the Dutch East Indies and Holland.
The United States has already cut off ECA aid to the Dutch East Indies but not to Holland.

When the state department heard about this, however, acting Secretary of State Lovett shipped over to the White House and sounded the alarms. The White House then phoned senate secretary Les Biffle, who in turn called senate majority leader Scott
Lucas of Illinois, plus Senators Pepper of Florida and Johnson of Colorado.

The resolution, the senators were told, would be most embarrassing. They were asked to kill it.

Are Senators Puppets?
No explanation was given as to why the state department was opposed, since the resolution was almost identical with the position already taken by the state department at Lake Success. Nevertheless, the senators were asked to desist. Senator Pepper, who has just become a member of the senate foreign relations committee, and who is in intimate terms with the president, asked that his name be withdrawn. Most others stuck by their guns.

Remarkable Senator Chavez of New Mexico: "What do they expect us to do—just appropriate the money for 'em'?"

"I can't recall," observed Ed Johnson of Colorado, "that the senate has abdicated its right to ratify treaties and play its constitutional part in foreign policy."

Note—Other senators who signed the resolution included:
Hill and Sparkman of Alabama;
Magnuson of Washington; Gillette of Iowa; Kilgore and McNair of West Virginia; Murray of Montana, Malone of Nevada (Rep.).

How Dutch Finance War

A significant conversation has been taking place in Europe. The Dutch have told Field Marshal Montgomery that they can't afford to assume their proportionate responsibility under the defense pact because of the heavy cost of military operations in Indonesia.

Indonesian operations for one year cost the Dutch $436,000,000.
During that same year, the Dutch received $476,000,000 of Marshall plan money from us. In other words, the USA really is paying for the war in Indonesia, yet the Dutch claim they can't afford to pay their share of the western Europe defense pact.

Note—Inside reason why some state department officials are jittery about pushing the Dutch too far in Indonesia is fear they'll pull out of the defense pact. If so, point out realistic diplomats, where else can the Dutch go—into the arms of Russia, with 90 per cent of their population vigorously anti-Russian?

Electricity Famine

President Truman was talking to Senator Magnuson and Representative Hugh Mitchell of Washington about a proposed deal with Canada for water storage in British Columbia, from which the Pacific northwest could draw hydroelectric power. The northwest power shortage, they told the president, was due chiefly

Four in Flash Flood Rescued

HUGO, Okla., Jan. 28.—(P)—A former merchant marine, his wife and two other employees of a saw mill were rescued by boat Thursday after a flash flood sent 30 feet of water over their camp site.

Rescued were Walter Bailey, 45,
and his wife, from Ashdown, Ark., and Ed Murchison and his son Leon, 16.

Bailey gave the following version of what happened:
Bailey and his wife were tenting near Salt Creek last night and
although the creek was bankfull,
they did not believe it dangerous.

During the night, the creek overflowed and the Baileys retreated to the mill, which was on higher ground.

They lost all their possessions.
Murchison and his son were at the mill surrounded by water.
This morning, the owner of the mill—M. S. Leseby—and a fisherman rescued the four persons.

Bailey said he was on a life
raft for six days after his tanker was torpedoed during the war but it wasn't any worse than the flash
flood.

Asked to Refuse 'Bribe Money' of Klan

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 28.—(P)—
Southern Baptist pastors Thursday were asked to refuse "bribe money" offered by the Ku Klux Klan.

The plea was made by Dr. Hugh
A. Brimm, executive secretary of the Social Service Commission of the Southern Baptist convention.
Taking note of a KKK visit and
contribution to a Chattanooga
church last Sunday night, Dr.
Brimm said "the incident x x x will probably be repeated many times now that the Klan has sunk to such a low level in the thinking of decent and respectable people."

ing near Salt Creek last night and
although the creek was bankfull,
they did not believe it dangerous.

During the night, the creek over-
flowed and the Baileys retreated
to the mill, which was on higher ground.

They lost all their possessions.
Murchison and his son were at
the mill surrounded by water.
This morning, the owner of the mill—M. S. Leseby—and a fisherman rescued the four persons.

Bailey said he was on a life
raft for six days after his tanker
was torpedoed during the war but it wasn't any worse than the flash
flood.

Taking note of a KKK visit and contribution to a Chattanooga

ple."

More Ice, Sleet, and Snow

Danger in the Southeast Part of State After Heavy Rainfall

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 27.—(P)—A snowstorm moved eastward across Kansas into Missouri tonight, prolonging the wintry grip on the two states.

The latest blast was expected by the weather bureau to leave from four to six inches of snow in central and eastern Kansas and northwestern Missouri. It followed four days of a wide variety of precipitation—most of its icy—which left a coating of ice and slush.

Blizzard conditions were predicted for Kansas with a north-westerly wind rising tonight to from 40 to 45 miles per hour. With more than seven inches of new snow already fallen at Great Bend in the central portion of the state and over five inches at Iola in eastern Kansas, this would lead to heavy drifting.

Ice was increasing in parts of Missouri. Telephone communications were disrupted and at Jefferson City power company officials said the situation was so serious the city's power supply might be interrupted.

Garden City had between seven and eight inches of snow on the ground at four p. m., and at that hour it still was falling at the rate of 1/4 of an inch an hour.

The wind at Garden City was picking up and highway workers predicted it would continue many routes would be blocked. Snow-plows were busy all day in the area, but the fast falling snow was filling in behind them due to the heavy rate of fall.

Motorists in that area were advised to stay off the highways as the heaviest snowfall of the winter continued.

Wichita and Meade had four inches of snow. Dodge City had nearly three inches with a 32-mile an hour wind blowing. A high north wind was drifting the snow in the Hutchinson area.

Three inches of snow fell at Arkansas City between 11 a. m. and 2 p. m. Independence had three inches and Pittsburg reported two inches had fallen by mid-afternoon on top of three inches of sleet and ice. Snow also was falling at Salina, Great Bend, McPherson, and Iola.

Temperatures remained moderate, but the weather bureau forecast a cold wave by Friday night.

Freezing Rain
Eastern Kansas and northern and western Missouri had a taste of more sleet and freezing rain this morning, which curtailed traffic on street and highways and closed schools. Climbing temperatures, however, dispelled the threat of widespread damage such as experienced in the area two weeks ago.

At Joplin, ice that began forming last night melted rapidly as the mercury climbed past the freezing mark and rain fell.

Late today ice was reported breaking up on highways in the Nevada area, but the highway patrol there still warned motorists to stay off the highways. Two persons were hospitalized at Nevada for injuries on slick walks.

Communities Isolated
Heavy rains fell in southern and southeastern Missouri. At Kennett the U. S. army engineers alerted 60 men for duty along the St. Francis river levee when the danger of a break appeared imminent between Bucoda and Parker's ridge. The river reached a stage of 22 feet at St. Francis, Ark., and still was rising.

Many south Missouri communities still were isolated from outside communication. Among them were West Plains, which has been without power since Tuesday night; Mansfield, Cabool, Winona, Birch Tree, and Seymour. At Willow Springs, the highway patrol reported power service there was on an "on and off" basis.

At Poplar Bluff, the temperature rose 20 degrees in two hours this afternoon, zooming from 36 to 56. A light rain was falling at the time.

In the St. Louis area driving conditions remained hazardous with a combination of rain and sleet. The Union Electric company said it was beginning to receive reports of fallen wires and scattered service failure.

Hannibal's International Shoe company plant closed at noon today until Monday because of the shortage of supplies due to ice-crippled transportation.

A heavy rain eased the traffic (Please Turn To Page 4 col 1)

Four in Flash Flood Rescued

HUGO, Okla., Jan. 27.—(P)—A former merchant marine, his wife and two other employees of a saw mill were rescued by a boat today after a flash flood sent 30 feet of water over their camp site.

Rescued were Walter Bailey, 45, and his wife, from Ashdown, Ark., and Ed Murchison and his son Leon, 16.

Bailey gave the following version of what happened.

Bailey and his wife were tenting near Salt Creek last night and although the creek was bankfull, they did not believe it dangerous. During the night, the creek overflowed and the Baileys retreated to the mill, which was on higher ground.

They lost all their possessions. Murchison and his son were at the mill surrounded by water.

This morning, the owner of the mill—M. S. Lesesby—and a fisherman rescued the four persons.

Bailey said he was on a life raft for six days after his tanker was torpedoed during the war but it wasn't any worse than the flash flood.

Bill to Build Grain Reserves

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(P)—A bill to establish permanent reserves of wheat, corn and cotton was introduced today by Senator Elmer Thomas (D-Okla.).

Thomas, chairman of the Senate agriculture committee, called it an "ever normal granary" plan. He said it would set a price floor for farm products and also protect consumers against "run-away prices."

The bill provides that the permanent reserve of wheat shall be 400,000,000 (M) bushels, of corn 600,000,000 (M) bushels and of cotton 4,500,000 (M) bales.

Commodities placed in these permanent reserves, Thomas explained, would not be counted as part of the total supply in determining acreage allotments, marketing quotas or price support program. Commodities placed under loan and not redeemed later would be made part of the permanent reserves by the secretary of agriculture.

When the stockpile of any commodity equalled the specified goal, the secretary would hold a referendum among producers on whether quotas should be provided for the next year's crop.

Thomas' bill also provided that the 1919 wheat and cotton crops shall not be taken into consideration in fixing any future acreage allotments.

He said the purpose is to discourage large plantings of both crops since surpluses are expected.

Schools Close Due Severity Of Weather

Rain, Sleet and Snow Slow Down Transportation

Icy, rainy weather fell upon this vicinity Thursday morning and a variety precipitation rain, sleet, snow in the afternoon and evening, causing the already slick streets, highways and sidewalks to become much more hazardous.

Temperatures remained above 20 degrees falling from 32 degrees to 24 degrees at 11:00 o'clock last night, but the weather man said it is to get colder today, causing the highways to become worse when water freezes over them.

Schools were dismissed in Sedalia Thursday morning. The public schools didn't open at all. Pupils and students are dismissed indefinitely. Sacred Heart dismissed classes at 11:00 o'clock, and informed students not to return until Monday morning.

St. Patrick's dismissed at 2 p. m. for the week. Central Business College dismissed students until Monday.

C. F. Scotten, superintendent of county school announced that several of the rural schools had closed.

Stay Off Highways
Trooper Wayne Allman reported that while touring Highway 50 between here and Warrensburg he met few automobiles going and returning. The state highway patrol gave a warning to motorists to stay off the highways unless it was a case of emergency. Its report said the highways would be frozen over at night. One automobile jackknifed into a ditch about eight miles on highway 65 early Thursday morning.

Bus transportation is delayed and in some instances cancelled entirely. The Missouri Pacific bus lines announce that only one bus went through all day Thursday and that was around 6:00 o'clock that morning. It left St. Louis at 10 p. m. Wednesday night and arrived at Knob Noster at 6:45 o'clock Thursday morning.

Thursday night a bus arrived on time at 9:35 o'clock from St. Louis, Kansas City 6:15 that evening was four hours late. Usually ten buses are scheduled to stop in Sedalia on this line.

A six hour delay was given buses leaving St. Louis Wednesday morning. Officials there would not let the buses depart. The Des Moines - Springfield Southern bus line was running Thursday but schedules were delayed. It was reported at the bus station that from Marshall Junction to Sweet Springs was blocked on highway 40.

Truck lines operating out of Sedalia were holding up on the scheduled route. Some lines reported they would wait and see what the weather holds before departing from Sedalia.

Two of Sedalia's hospitals reported no patients admitted due weather accidents. The Woodland hospital admitted a woman Thursday afternoon who fell on steps and fractured her hip.

Oppose 'Gas' Tax Increase

Some at Road Plans Hearing Express Views

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 27.—(P)—The tune was changed late today in the hearing held by Gov. Forrest Smith's special road committee.

Witnesses began opposing proposed increases in the state gasoline tax. In the preceding day and a half of hearings, most recommendations had been for increased taxes to construct better roads.

Matt F. Morse, president of the Automobile Club of Missouri, said he opposed any gasoline tax increase until a need for such a hike had been shown.

Instead, he said, "increased use of automobiles and the accompanying increases in sales of gasoline will provide funds enough so that no tax raise is needed."

He urged that something be done about the duplications of licenses and taxes in Missouri. As duplications of state taxes, Morse named city driver's licenses, city gasoline taxes and city automobile taxes.

"Missouri is the only state which permits all these duplicating taxes," Morse said.

He added he was opposed to a gasoline tax increase because the average citizen would be against it.

Also opposed to the increase was the St. Louis Public Service company, represented by John Damron. "A two cent per gallon tax increase would increase the tax burden by $200,000 a year on the company," he said.

Asked For Exemption
Damron asked the committee to exempt the company from paying any tax increase and urged the exemption from all state gasoline taxes because of its slight use of state roads and highways.

George R. Goode, chairman of the legislative committee of the Missouri Bus and Truck Association, told the group his organization opposed gas tax increases.

"Only if a real emergency exists would my organization support a tax increase," Goode said. He suggested gas tax refunds to non-highway users be eliminated and the money be turned over for county roads. Buses and trucks are paying 52 per cent of Missouri's total highway taxes, he claimed.

Fred Naeter, Cape Girardeau publisher and a member of the committee, noted that both the Automobile Club and the Bus and Truck Association had supported the Curry amendment, defeated last November.

"It looks like they were out of patience because their theory was defeated," he said.

"My theory of government got a severe jolt in November, but I hope I never want to stop going forward."

Couple Wedded 77 Years Ago

SIoux FALLS, S. D., Jan. 27.—(P)—Sam and Emma Mercer quietly observed their 77th wedding anniversary today.

"Do you know of anyone in the United States who has been married longer than we have?" was one of Mercer's first questions to a reporter.

Two years ago and again last year stories of the Mercers were printed widely. No one was known to have challenged their mark.

Mercer, at 95 is the oldest man in Sioux Falls. His wife is 94.

Much has happened to the enduring couple since that day 77 years ago when they were married at Arena, Wis.

After their marriage the Mercers lived in Iowa and then moved by covered wagon to Missouri. One of their favorite stories concerns how they were stopped and questioned by Jesse and Frank James. The family later settled at Whitman, Mo., where their nearest neighbor was the mother of the James boys, who were early day bandits.

Notables Say 'I Do' in a Rome Church

Tyrone Power Weds Attractive Starlet, Linda Christian

ROME, Jan. 27.—(P)—Linda Christian and Tyrone Power were married today in a wedding that would stack up against the best of Hollywood's camera extravaganzas.

Screaming thousands of "Tifosi," the Italian equivalent of bobo-soxers, staged riot scenes around the little church of Santa Francesca Romana where the film notables said "I do."

Mounted police were called out to ring the church, located in the old part of Rome, a stone's throw from the ancient colosseum.

But all the police and all the police horses, plus a riot platoon in jeeps, couldn't hold the romantic crowds back.

They broke through the lines as Linda arrived 15 minutes late. They screamed "Linda! Linda!" as the starlet, resplendent in white satin with an 8-yard long train, entered the church.

The crowd nearly pulled the overcoat off United States Ambassador James C. Dunn when he and his wife arrived at the church. There were scores of other notables there, too.

Exceeded His Fears
Before the wedding, Power told friends he hoped, if he wouldn't turn into a "bassie," a word he learned in the Marines which, freely translated means something like a three-ringed circus. But the scenes outside the church exceeded his worst fears. Police, tipped off there might be a do-do, were caught short handed anyway.

The ceremony, performed by Msgr. William Hemmick of Washington, D. C., was conducted in an elaborate setting.

A pale lavender light washed the main altar. Carnations, lilies and lilies banked the gold and blue mosaic walls.

Many pictures
Twelve floodlights illuminated the church for cameramen, but they used flash bulbs anyway.

As they shot their pictures Miss Christian walked up the aisle to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, on the arm of Signor Leone Miglievich, handsome and white-bearded father of two Italian schoolmates of the bride.

Miss Christian had to do a couple of re-takes, as her train snagged a few times.

Two Hundred Guests
Power's best man was George Ormstein, local representative of United Artists. Several couples and a prince served as witnesses.

About 200 invited guests witnessed the ceremony, many of them titled and all resplendent in fine gowns, furs and jewels. They ooh-ed and ah-ed through the ceremony.

After the wedding Linda and Tyrone went to the Vatican for an audience with the Pope. Later they went to Ambassador Dunn's for a reception. This afternoon they are to leave for northern Italy, Switzerland and Austria on a month's tour.

Speed on Boost to Aid Fund

Senate Approves $500,000 Bill as Truman Asks Million More

By Morgan Reynolds
WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(P)—Moving with record speed, Congress today voted a $500,000 relief fund for the snowbound west and set to work immediately on another measure which may boost the storm chest another $3,000,000.

1. President Truman told a news conference he was asking Congress for a new $1,000,000 emergency disaster fund. He said the $500,000 fund Congress appropriated last year was down to $50,000. He has allocated $300,000 of it in the last few days for relief in the western states.

2. Shortly after the White House announcement the House voted unanimously to add $500,000 to the disaster fund and sent the appropriation measure to the Senate.

3. Two hours later the Senate approved the $500,000 bill and sent it to the White House for the President's signature.

4. The Federal Works Administration, Maj. Gen. Philip B. Fleming, said after a White House conference that the $500,000 appropriation is only half the amount needed to ask for and that Mr. Truman plans to ask for the full $1,000,000 he requested.

5. The Red Cross announced it was making a preliminary allocation of $250,000 for use in the snow-buffed regions as well as in areas facing flood threats.

Fleming, who is coordinating the government's relief efforts, reported that he is preparing a general disaster relief bill which would set up a $10,000,000 (M) fund for use in such emergencies.

Repay On 'Haylift'
The Senate meanwhile had kept the relief drive snowballing by adopting a resolution to authorize $3,000,000 to repay federal agencies for money they have already spent in the "haylift" of livestock feed and other relief operations in the 10-state western blizzard area.

This measure originally called for a $750,000 outlay, but the amount was boosted on the motion of Senator Watkins (R-Utah). The resolution, as approved by the Interior Affairs committee, earmarked the money particularly for use in opening up highways and farm-to-market roads which are clogged as a result of 18 snowstorms since December 22.

While clear weather speeded rescue operations in parts of the stricken area, there was a new blizzard in Nebraska sleet storms elsewhere, and flood threats along the Ohio river. These added fresh urgency to the following actions in the capital.

The $3,000,000 proposal was slated for early House action, but since it is in the form of an authorization, a separate appropriation bill would have to be introduced and approved in both houses before the money would be available in the current emergency.

The President's disaster fund is set up for special emergencies such as floods, blizzards and hurricanes. The federal government advances needed sums which are matched by states in the stricken area.

Although Congress does not earmark the money it appropriates for this purpose both Senate and House members urged that the $500,000 voted today be used in the following states: Montana, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Nevada, Arizona and Idaho.

'Phone Company Again Hard Hit

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 27.—(P)—The Southwestern Bell Telephone company, hard hit by the second ice storm in two weeks, estimated today that the January weather already has cost the company about $7,500,000.

"The company feels this is a major disaster," a spokesman said. "We haven't had anything like this for many a year."

He reported the heaviest damage caused by the icing conditions which started Monday night was in Texas. The company's facilities in Oklahoma also have been hard hit, with a smaller amount of damage reported in southern Missouri and northwest Arkansas.

The company also serves Kansas. Of the total damage $3,000,000 has been caused by the ice storm this week, the spokesman said. More than 2,000 long distance circuits are out of service and 85,000 separate wire breaks have occurred since Monday night, he said.

Thirty-three thousand telephones in Southwestern Bell exchanges are out of service, 14,000 in Dallas, Tex., alone he said.

The company's 4,200 men on restoration work and additional repairmen are being brought in from the Illinois and Southern Bell Telephone companies. The company has been drawing emergency supplies from 21 different states.

Inquiry Made on 'Compulsory Sickness'

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(P)—Aides of Senator Kilgore (D-W-Va) "allowed as how" there would not be much disagreement with the sentiments in this letter the Senator received today:

"Dear Sir—This is to advise we are opposed to compulsory sickness as proposed by our government."

Protests Voiced on Method of Fight On Rent Control

TULSA, Okla., Jan. 27.—(P)—The Rev. Wallace J. Murphy, leader of the Tulsa Property Association's drive against federal rent controls, collapsed in his office today from a heart attack.

He was taken to his home where Murphy said he would carry on the fight "even from a sick bed."

The pastor had been ill following an earlier attack eight weeks ago. Doctors said today that he is "completely exhausted" and attributed the attack to his activities as the center of what has become a nation-wide controversy on rents.

TULSA, Okla., Jan. 27.—(P)—Landlords battling federal rent control proposals with a mass eviction weapon stuck to their strategy today in the face of growing criticism from Washington officials.

Prominent Executive Of The Northwest Still Loves Circus

Sedalians listening in on Ralph Edwards' "This Is Your Life" radio program, the early part of this month were interested and surprised, when they heard Harper Joy, the man being interviewed, say he was born in Sedalia, Mo.

A member of the Democratic Capital news staff wrote to Mr. Joy, telling him of the many inquiries concerning the broadcast, and asked for some information about him that might be given the newspaper's readers.

Mr. Joy's letter tells the story better than it could be told otherwise. It follows:

"The appearance on Ralph Edwards' 'This Is Your Life' program was one of the great experiences of my life. The nostalgia that it gave me for the past as the program recalled for me the experiences of earlier days—the thoughts that came of a place where one has lived—and the opportunity to walk again with friends and to hear remembered voices. I realize more than ever that the human interest in the program was not so much Harper Joy as it was the adaptation by the listeners of experiences in my life to those in theirs. A dear old teacher—a friend in time of trouble—a mother who thinks about the awful day when her own boy left home—the sad and the happy phases of the past. I feel the program reaches great heights because it is sincere, and the principal is kept in the dark as to what the surprises will be."

Born On Hurley Street

I was born in Sedalia at 415 Hurley Avenue on August 31, 1894, the son of John C. and Anna Lounsbury. My father was a telegraph operator for the Missouri Pacific railroad. I have been back to Sedalia several times—just to look around—and have always thought it was a lovely place. The last time I was there was on March 25, 1943, and because I had never been seen whether I was born on August 31 or September 1st, I visited the library where a very kind lady helped me search the newspaper files that had been stored in the basement. I remember she said to me, 'Mr. Joy, you have come a long way, and you mustn't be disappointed if you find no news item concerning your birth because in those days they didn't print much regarding "lat" tistics.' But there on the front page of the Saturday, September 1, 1894 edition of the Sedalia Morning Gazette, under the heading 'A New Railroad,' was the simple announcement—'John C. Lounsbury of the Missouri Pacific became the father of a bouncing boy yesterday.'

"You can imagine my pleasure to read this in the old Sedalia newspaper, and I began to thumb through to see what was happening at that period. Some of the items of interest were these:

"Jim Corbett was in his prime and fighting in Chicago. The Sedalia Military Band played a downtown concert. Gato's cigars were three for a quarter. Wood's Opera House was playing a stock company . . . and the Terry Hotel was the leading hostelry. The Republicans had turned in a landslide in the off-year election following the panic of 1893. Sedalia's Enormous United Railroad Circus showed Sedalia, Monday, July 30, 1894—Admission, 25c—with a grand, free street parade at 10:00 a.m.

Incidents of Early Days

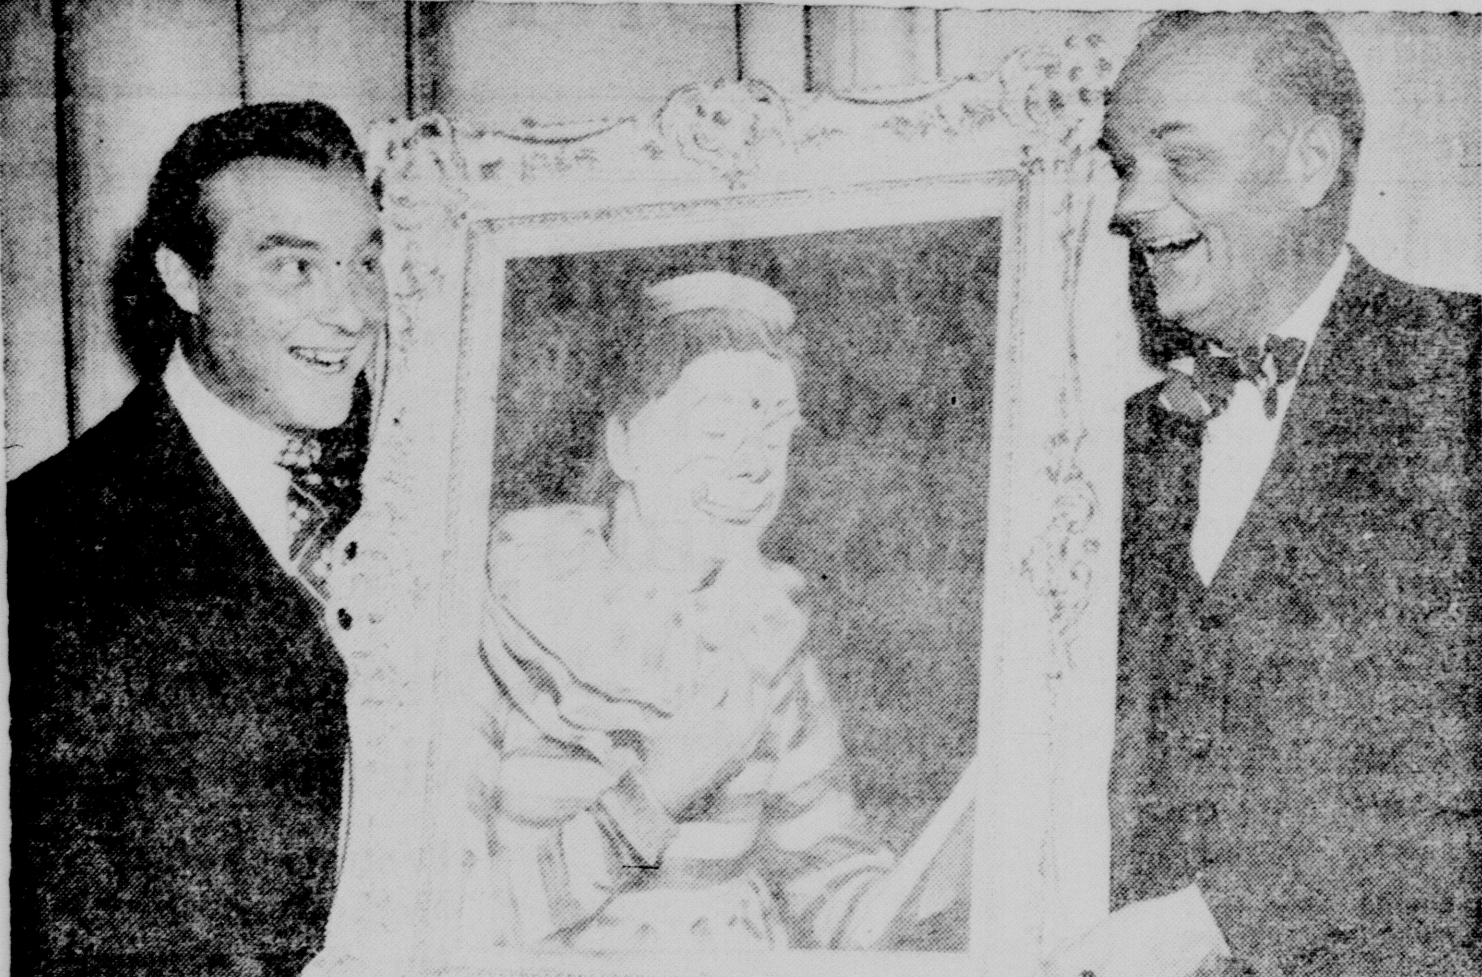

"I never had the nerve to actually go up to the house where I was born until the last time I was there, and I knocked on the door and said to the lady who lives there, 'Lady, I was born in this house.' And she said, 'Why, you couldn't have been. We have lived here for 25 years.' I know that Mrs. Whitcomb was a helpful help deliver me into this world, and there is a story about my older brother, Eddie, drinking the laudanum and getting quite a jag on it.

"We lived in Sedalia only a very short time after I was born, and my father moved out to Walla Walla, where he was a telegraph operator for the old Oregon-Washington Railroad which later became part of the Union Pacific. Very soon after we arrived in Walla Walla my brother, Eddie, was burned to death in a fire. This left my sister, Irene, who was born in 1895, and myself, and we were orphaned in 1897. We were adopted by the Joys, who ran the railroad boarding house. At first the Joys felt that they could adopt only one, and they didn't want to take both of us. When it came to a show-down, however, they couldn't bear the thought of having us separated, and although they couldn't afford it, they adopted us both.

An Interesting Career

"I guess you know the rest of my life's history from the program. In my youth I was in vaudeville, and for nearly 20 years have spent my vacation with the major circuses in the country as a clown. It always seemed to me that it is just as sensible to be crazy over bridge, or dominoes, or for grown men to collect old coins and stamps; or for historians to spend weary months plowing through dusty old volumes to make the discovery that Chief Mug Wump was murdered by a member of the Illahee Tribe that winter of 1873. I love the circus, and to me it will always be the incarnation of romance and adventure. I love the spangles and sawdust just as much as when I first saw the ring as a boy. We lived in the small town of Walla Walla which is a town about the size of Sedalia, and inasmuch as we were a family of somewhat means, the circus to me was somehow tied with the outside world that came mysteriously over the horizon and went away to that somewhere Else that lay beyond. You see, it was sort of my contact with

Harper Joy Receives Portrait at Hollywood Show

Ralph Edwards presented Harper Joy with a pastel portrait of Joy as a clown in a Hollywood radio program the early part of January. Mr. Joy, executive vice president of the Pacific Northwest company, was honored in a program, "This Is Your Life." The show recalled Mr. Joy's experiences in vaudeville and circuses as well as his vacations spent in clown costume. In making the presentation Mr. Edwards said the picture was for the broker's circus room. Sedalians listening in were surprised to hear Mr. Joy state he was born in Sedalia, Mo. Walter Jesse Better

Walter Jesse, assistant machine foreman at the Missouri Pacific shops, returned to work Friday, after being off duty a week because of illness.

The outside world and the land of dreams.

"I am married and have four children. My oldest, a daughter, is a junior at Whitman College where I graduated in 1922. My two boys (16 and 17) are in Lewis and Clark high school in Spokane, and our little Eddie who is 5, and who came on a late train, has enabled us to live our lives all over again. My first son I named Jim because my name was James Harper Lounsbury. When I was adopted I became James Harper Joy, but Mother Joy dropped the James because she thought it was 'plebian.' I never could figure that one out—but anyway, that's how I became Harper Joy. Harper was my mother's name; she having been raised in Montserrat, Mo., the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Harper.

"I am a Trustee of Whitman College at Walla Walla; vice-chairman of the Spokane Shrine Hospital for Crippled Children; I am Past President of the Circus Fans Association of America; Past President of the Shrine Directors Association of North America. I am a member of the Advisory Board of the Spokane and Eastern Division of the Seattle First National Bank.

"And there you have it."

If you decide to use this material, I would appreciate very much your sending me about six tear sheets.

With all good wishes, I am, Cordially yours, Harper Joy.

E. E. Green, Jr. Takes Position In K. C. Kansas

Named Executive Manager Chamber Of Commerce There

KANSAS CITY, Kas., Jan. 22.—(P)—Ellsworth Green, Jr., manager of the Chamber of Commerce at Freeport, Ill., has been appointed executive manager of the Kansas City, Kas., Chamber of Commerce.

Green, 37, has held the position at Freeport 15 months, and before that was secretary of the Sedalia, Mo., Chamber of Commerce nine years. At Freeport he tripled the chamber's annual budget and doubled the membership. At Sedalia he boosted the budget from $3,000 to $17,000 annually and tripled the membership.

He succeeds C. M. Woodward who resigned to become assistant executive manager of the Kansas City, Mo., Chamber of Commerce.

I. H. Reed, a past-president of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, learning last night that Mr. Green has received the above appointment, called him by phone at his home in Freeport.

Green, he said, was pleased to have been named for the job, for which there were many applicants, and said he would assume his new duties there March 1. The position in Kansas City, Kas., is a more remunerative one than in Freeport, but the board of directors there, on learning of Green's intention of leaving, offered to match, or exceed the Kansas City Kas., offer if he would stay. He said, however, it is his desire to return to the Midwest, and he will be happy too, to be nearer Sedalia.

Since leaving here Mr. and Mrs. Green and their daughter Ellie Linn have frequently returned to visit, and on one trip purchased a house in the Ben Rokin subdivision, which they now have rented.

Dr. A. R. Maddox Talks to School

Dr. A. R. Maddox was guest speaker at Hubbard high school assembly Friday morning on the subject, "Opportunities of Youth." He stated that perhaps one of the greatest opportunities confronting every youth today is the opportunity to prepare himself physically, intellectually, morally to acquire an education. By this is meant not only an opportunity to store the mind with a knowledge of facts, but their inter-relations, but to fit himself effectively for life's work to prepare himself for the performance of all the duties of the citizen, of a friend, of a neighbor, in short all the duties which he owes to himself, to the community, to the nation.

He told the students that it was important for every young woman and man to secure above all, an education that would be of value in the every day business affairs of life. It may be all right to embrace an opportunity to learn Latin and Greek, but it still remains imperative not to neglect opportunities to an education for service, to become interested in manual, industrial and vocational training, he said.

Dr. Maddox ended his talk by reading an article on the various things that are needed to attain success.

Prof. J. B. Hylick, principal of the school, made a few remarks.

Pittsburgh Corning Opens New Offices

Larger Quarters Enables Firm to Better Serve Buyers

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—The home offices of the Pittsburgh Corning corporation are being transferred from the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Building during the next week to ten days, according to Julian P. Staples, general manager of Pittsburgh Corning.

The new offices will be located at 307 Fourth Avenue, Pittsburgh. These larger quarters will enable the firm to better serve buyers of its two products, structural glass blocks and cellular glass insulation. Although the address is to be changed, the corporate organization remains the same. In 1937, Pittsburgh Corning was formed by the Corning Glass Works and the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company. It was capitalized on a 50-50 basis.

The young firm is independently managed, but it has benefited from the research and production "know-how" of Corning and the sales and distribution facilities of Pittsburgh Plate. In recent years it has become less dependent upon its parent companies. Today, the corporation has its own research division, production units, and nationwide sales organization.

Over ten years ago, Pittsburgh Corning pioneered in the field of structural glass blocks for residences and industrial buildings. In 1942, it brought out a new product, Foamlas. This cellular insulating material is a true glass that retain its original insulating efficiency permanently. It is employed in buildings, on hot or cold piping, and on industrial equipment.

Pittsburgh Corning now owns four plants for producing these products and employs about 700 persons. The plants are at Port Allegany, Pa. and Sedalia, Mo.

Several Gold Coins

Several gold coins are displayed including some of the more scarce issues, such as the 25c and 50c gold coins and the $3.00 gold piece.

Of unusual interest in the display are a couple of "freak" coins or mis-strikes made at the mint. One of these, a Roosevelt dime, that might be called a Siamese twin coin, two planchets are joined together with only the imprint being struck in part on one of the planchets.

Currency is also covered in the display with such items as the Confederate States of America Bills, issued during the Civil War, U. S. Banknotes, more commonly known as "Broken Bank Bills"—these bills were issued by different banks which were chartered by the various states prior to the regular issue of the United States paper-money. Various denominations of the old large size United States bills are shown, beginning with one of our first, a one-dollar bill of the 1869 issue.

"Depression Script"

Also of interest, displayed is one of Emergency Co-operative Currency or "Depression Script" bills, issued in Sedalia in the year 1933. In this year the City of Sedalia found the Treasury unable to meet its pay-roll and in order to cope with this condition, issued temporary currency. In order for the receiver to pass this currency, it was necessary to purchase stamps from the City Treasurer at 2c each, affix one to the back of the note and cancel it with his initials and date, each time the bill was passed. After 52 such stamps had been affixed and cancelled in this manner, the note was redeemed by the City Treasurer for one dollar.

No coin display would be complete, particularly in Sedalia, without showing of the Missouri Centennial Half Dollars issued here in Sedalia during the State Fair Centennial celebration in 1920.

Sedalia Bank Has Unusual Coin Display

Depicts History Of Monetary System Through the Years

An interesting addition to the Sedalia Bank and Trust Company, recently moved into its new building, 111 West Third street, is a rare collection of coins, attractively displayed in a solid walnut case, made by the General Wood Products company of Sedalia.

The coins, all American, with the exception of a few which date back to the B. C. days, were purchased from, and arranged in the display by Wm. B. Hert, Jr., 706 West Fourth street, who for more than 20 years has made a study of and collected American coins.

They start with an Apollonia Greek bronze coin of 100 B. C., copper coin of the Emperor Nero, 54 A. D., Silver Denarius of 263 A. D. and various ancient coins through the centuries up to our American coins.

The first American coins, called United States Colonial coins, were issued by the early colonies prior to the establishment of the U. S. Mint in 1792. A representative of these in the display are the New Jersey cent of 1787, Connecticut cent of 1787 and the Massachusetts cent of 1788.

All Types Covered

With the establishment of the regular coinage from the United States mint in 1793, the display covers all types and denominations of our regular coinage, Half Cents, Large Copper Pennies, Two Cent Pieces, Three Cent Pieces, which were coined both in silver and nickel, each a different and distinct type, the early half dimes and dimes, Shield type nickels, the early bust type quarters and half dollars which have lettered edges, the Twenty Cent pieces, which were only coined for four years, 1875, 1876, 1877 and 1878.

The many variations of our monetary system prior to and including the Civil War are displayed by the Jackson Cents or Hard Times Tokens issued from 1834 to 1841 when political interest was centered on the currency question. These coins were close copies of the regular coinage and passed as such. During the Civil War there were issued what were called the Civil War Cents, these were close copies of the regular pennies and were issued by various merchants and also passed as legal tender. Another interesting item of the Civil War period are the Encased Postage Stamps, as during this period small money was so scarce that people used postage stamps as change. Many merchants would encase postage stamps in small metal frames with their advertisement on the back and this form would also protect the stamp for longer uses.

U. S. Trade Dollars

Shown in the United States Trade Dollars—these dollars were coined for export trade with the Orient and they are unique in the fact that this is the only United States coin ever demonitized by the government.

In 1863 a new nickel was coined, called the Liberty Head, and on this coin the government or mint officials made a so-called "faux pas." This nickel did not have, on either side, the word nickel or cents, and in many cases these coins were plated and passed as five dollar gold pieces as in fact they were practically the same. Later in the same year the word "cents" was added to the coin. The various types of these nickels are displayed.

From 1830 to 1861 there were many companies, in the western states, that made gold coins of their own design, the weights of these coins, or the gold content, being the same as the regular U. S. gold coinage and passed as legal tender. These are called Private Issue Gold Coins, and in fact, owing to their limited quantity, are quite rare. On display is a facsimile of one of these coins—a $10.00 gold piece of the Oregon Exchange Company issued in 1849. The original sells for $2,500.00.

PCAA League Nears End Of Cage Season

Tournaments In February; Other Activities Later

One of the most active sports organizations in the Sedalia area is the Pettis County Athletic Association, composed of teams from the high schools in Sedalia (Sacred Heart), Smithton, Houstonia, Hughesville, LaMonte, Green Ridge, Warsaw, Lincoln and Cole Camp. The last three are Benton county schools, but are regular participants in PCAA activities.

With about three weeks of play left in the season, team standings in the league are as follows (not including games of Friday and Saturday night):

Boys' Basketball
School	Won	Lost	Pct.
Warsaw	5	0	1.000
Hughesville	4	0	1.000
Cole Camp	4	2	.667
LaMonte	3	2	.600
Smithton	2	2	.500
Sacred Heart	2	3	.400
Houstonia	2	3	.400

Houstonia	2	2	.500
Warsaw	1	4	.200
LaMonte	1	4	.200
Green Ridge	0	4	.000

Through a telephone call to Lincoln, Saturday night, it was learned that the Lincoln team record was unobtainable at that time.

The variation in the number of games played is due to postponements made because of the recent bad weather.

Tourney In February

The annual tournaments for this year will be held during the week of February 7. These include all teams, boys and girls both, of the entire league. There will be two divisions—the north side at Hughesville, including Smithton, Hughesville, Houstonia, Sacred Heart, and LaMonte—and the south side at Lincoln, including Lincoln, Warsaw, Cole Camp, and Green Ridge. The final championship round will be held Saturday night, February 11, at Cole Camp. These will be single elimination tournaments.

In addition to these scheduled games, teams of the league often play invitational games, and an invitational tournament was held recently at Houstonia, which was won by Cole Camp. Some very promising basketball talent is seen on many of the teams, and keen competition develops between the schools.

Other Activities

In addition to this basketball league the PCAA also sponsors many other activities, including a softball tournament, contests in chess, courses, literary work, and spelling, plus an annual music festival.

The one-act play contest in December was won by Warsaw, with Smithton second and Green Ridge third. The softball tournament in October in Cole Camp saw the Cole Camp boys take first place, with Smithton first in the girls' division.

B. B. Thrig, superintendent of the Smithton public school, is president of the association, and John Ragland, superintendent of the Cole Camp schools, is secretary-treasurer.

Also this coin is the only legal tender United States coin on which the word "SEDALIA" appears.

The Sedalia Girl Scouts will assist with the March of Dimes collection for the Infantile Paralysis Fund, in all the local theaters, the week of January 23. This will be a civic activity for Senior Girl Scouts from Sacred Heart and Smith Cotton high schools.

Mrs. John C. Ryan, chairman of the Clothes for Friendship, the major Girl Scout project for 1948, is happy to announce receipt of their first "Thank You" letter. The letter came to Mrs. Rose Adkins, leader of troop 24, St. Patrick's school. It reads:

"Mrs. Rose Adkins, 307 East Fourth Street, Sedalia, Missouri. 'Dear Friend, I thank you very much for your kind letter as well as nice gifts. A lady from the Workers Welfare Organization gave us some of the nice things you gathered for my little boy as well as a note, because I know a bit of English to write to you. So I am able to thank you personally. Will you please give my thanks also to the nice girl of troop 24. May I send you a small photo of our little boy, now 13 months old. We call him Wilfried. At present it is very cold here. We live in a wood barrack and have not sufficient wood and coal. You will understand that I instantly hope that winter will not last too long, otherwise our little baby has to suffer so much from the cold and may get ill.

"I'll now I never heard about the town of Sedalia. I, therefore, looked up in my map in order to find out where this town is situated. I found Sedalia between Kansas City and St. Louis, south of the river Missouri. Is that right? You seem to have a more favorable climate than we have at Kassel. Kassel is situated in the northern part of the American zone of Germany and has now about 170,000 inhabitants (before the war about 225,000). In winter we often have much snow and ice. Dear friend, I hope you will understand my English which I learned in school. Later on in 1939, I had been in London, England, but for six months only. From that time onward I had few opportunities to learn English.

"Now we buy the New York Times, which we get weekly. This newspaper informs us about all important political news throughout the world, and at the same time we improve our English. My husband speaks English fluently. He had been in America before the First World War, had been in an internment camp during that war and afterwards he had to go back to Germany. From 1933 to 1945, my husband had to suffer very much from political persecution by the Nazis. He lost his position and had to stay in concentration camps for some time. You can imagine how happy we are that the Americans gave us our freedom back. I still work in the office, a German agency, where I have to write English correspondence addressed to the American Military Government of Kassel. We lost all our things in an air-raid attack in 1945, so have to spare money again in order to buy more furniture and a feather-bed for the baby, etc. I am 40 years old, my husband 56, my parents 74 and 75, and my sister 33. We are all living together in a barrack which we erected in our garden. Our house has been totally destroyed. Every morning I get up at half past five and care for the baby. At half seven my husband, my sister and I go to the office. All the day long my mother looks after the baby. At 6 o'clock in the evening we are all back home again. Then I feed the baby and bring him to bed, where he sleeps until morning. Dear friend, before I close today's letter I want to thank you again for the useful things I received from you, and I should be very pleased to get a letter from you soon. This is my first letter to America.

"I do not know which is the best way to send mail to the United States, so will air-mail. With best wishes to you, your family, as well as the Girl Scouts, I remain with kindest regards, Margarete Walter (16) Kassel, Hessen Langenbeckstr. 59, American Zone of Germany, Dec. 31, 1948."

This letter is very encouraging, we know our Clothes for Friendship Kits are reaching the needy of Foreign lands. To the leaders, Girl Scouts and our friends, Thank You for helping with your donations to this great humanitarian National Girl Scout project.

problem at Columbia. The Boone County Rural Electric Cooperative said it had lost one of its circuits during the morning due to heavy glazing of wires.

A combination of rain, sleet and freezing mist stopped at Macon early this afternoon after covering streets and highways with ice.

All Macon public schools were dismissed at noon and pupils told not to report for classes until next Monday. School officials said the decision to close was due to the difficult transportation over slippery roads. All inter city bus service was suspended due to the heavy ice on highways U. S. 36 and 63. There was no damage to utility lines or trees.

New Blizzards In West By The Associated Press

New blizzards swirling into sections of the west Thursday, complicating the many-sided battle to save half the nation's sheep and thousands of cattle from perishing.

White planes, truck-bus, bulldozers and Army weasels pushed through new snow and drifts, the Red Cross, Congress and President Truman moved to start a flood of dollars for emergency relief.

The National Wool Growers' Association estimated that half of the nation's sheep population are in critical condition because of storms and shortage of feed. That number, the association said, are snowbound from the Dakotas and Kansas westward.

Winter struck these new blizzards: A new blizzard swept into snow-plagued Nebraska, where the army is working with 57 bulldozers and 29 weasels to cut through old drifts. The storm struck just as the Air Force arranged to send 24 cargo planes to its Kearney, Neb. base to carry supplies into the area and drop hay to starving livestock. The snow intensified the hazards facing snow-bound cattle and farmers.

Poor visibility slowed operations of the Nevada airlift by the big Air Force flying boxcars. However, by early afternoon the hay loaded planes were back on schedule dropping feed to stranded cattle and sheep in that state.

In Utah, which the National Wool Growers Association termed the major "catastrophe area" new storms slowed the delivery of supplies. However, trucked supplies got to virtually all herds during a lull in the bad weather the two preceding days. Some 1,200,000 sheep and cattle are snow-bound in that state.

Heavy snows of four to eight inches moved in over western Kansas and portions of Iowa, Wisconsin, upper Michigan and extreme southeastern Minnesota.

Indians Snowbound

WINSLOW, Ariz., Jan. 27—(AP)—Hundreds of Navajo Indians are snowbound on their desolate northern Arizona reservation and their sheep are starving in snow-blocked corrals, according to reports received here today.

Three big army transports here awaited orders from Kirtland Field, Albuquerque, N. M., and a clearing of the weather before taking off to drop food to the Indians.

Gives Bond in Murder Case

CAMDEN, Ark., Jan. 27.—(AP)—J. D. Robertson, Jr., about 30, member of a widely-known Ouachita family, was released on $10,000 bond today after being charged with murder in the fatal shooting of a Chicago woman.

Circuit Judge Gus W. Jones approved the bail.

Sheriff Bill Smead said Mitchell J. Wierzbicki, 26, an employee of the Philco Corporation, was shot to death early yesterday after Robertson and a friend found their wives in the company of Wierzbicki and another man.

The sheriff told this story:

Upon their return from an out-of-town business trip, Robertson and his friend found their wives and the two men at a drive-in cafe. At gun point, they forced the four to return to the home of Robertson's friend. Wierzbicki attempted to flee and was shot down. He was dead upon arrival at a hospital.

Smead did not identify other persons involved.

He said Wierzbicki was a member of a five-man crew installing radio equipment here. His body has been returned to Chicago.

Offer Proposals On Pensions

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Veterans organizations asked Congress today to make 18,000,000 veterans of both world wars eligible for $60-a-month pensions when they reach 60.

In a separate request, the Veterans of Foreign Wars proposed enactment of a World War II bonus law costing an estimated $15,000,000,000 to $20,000,000,000 in adjusted service compensation. The pension proposals were presented by the VFW and the American Legion to the House veterans affairs committee.

That committee began hearings today on a bill by its chairman, Rep. Rankin (D-Miss.), to pay old age and non-service connected disability pensions to veterans of the last two wars. The minimum pension to a veteran, sick or well, would be $60 a month, beginning at the age of 60.

Unofficial estimates place the cost of the proposed pension at $2,000,000,000 to $3,000,000,000 a year. Some 3,500,000 veterans would be eligible within 10 years, according to figures compiled by the Veterans Administration.

Veterans spokesmen said they were unable to give the committee any estimates now of peak pension costs.

The VFW's bonus proposal, already introduced in the house by Rankin in a separate bill, would pay World War II veterans at the rate of $3 a day for service in the United States but not to exceed $3,500, and $4 a day for service overseas and not exceeding $4,500. The cost figures of $15,000,000,000 to $20,000,000,000 are those of the VFW.

The Rankin pension bill, drafted from American Legion recommendations, provides payments ranging from $60 at 60 to $90 at 65. In addition, it offers pensions for non-service connected disabilities ranging from $20 to $90 a month, and $120 a month in cases where the veterans requires an attendant because of total helplessness.

The body is at the funeral home.

Funeral services will be held at the Ewing funeral home at 2:00 o'clock Friday morning.

Sedalia Wins Over Kennett By 62-61 Score

Windsor Pulls an Upset in Defeat Of Warrensburg

Tonight's schedule:
Windsor vs. Warsaw, 8:00.
Sedalia vs. Clinton or Knob Noster, 9:30.

These games are the semifinals.

Game Hotly Contested

The Sedalia Independents won the fastest game thus far of the MIBC tournament, sponsored by the Sedalia Lions club, by defeating Kennett 62 to 61 in a torrid first quarter. Thursday night at Convention hall, Windsor turned in an unexpected victory of 33 to 27 over Warrensburg. Warsaw defeated Napton by a 55 to 43 score. The final game was between Clinton and Knob Noster.

The Sedalia-Kennett game opened with an 8-point scoring spurge by Norman Thompson, Sedalia captain, and the score was 8 to 2 in less than two minutes of play. The game was very fast, with tight man-to-man defense and basket zone guarding, but few fouls. After ten minutes of free but inaccurate shooting, the quarter score found Sedalia leading 15 to 12, with Norman Thompson having 12 of the 15 counters. The tall, lanky, Kennett squad boasted six free throw points out of six attempts. An interesting fact about the Kennett team was that it was made up of three Turner brothers and two McHoney brothers.

The second quarter saw the speed increase even more, with few setup shots. However, as the teams began to loosen up, there was less of this free-throw shooting and more orderly play became the style for the time being. About five seconds before the end of the half, B. Turner of Kennett turned in the most spectacular shot of the evening—a toss made from within about three feet of the center line that went through the basket without a touch as touching the rim. Half-time score was 18 to 27, with Kennett creeping up steadily. Only ten fouls were called, and both teams were very sharp in making 11 points from a total of 15 free throw chances.

The second half opened with a Kennett scoring spree comparable to that of Sedalia in the first half. In about one and one-half minutes, Kennett led the game by 35 to 30, and a stunned Sedalia squad called time. Following this, the Sedalia squad became very jittery and Kennett jumped at their chance by piling up a 40 to 30 lead. With Sedalia still shaky, a few points were traded and some very fast interceptions were made. The third quarter ended with the score at 46 to 41, in Kennett's favor. Two beautiful long shots for Sedalia by Bud Michaelis were the outstanding plays of the quarter.

Unsurpassed speed marked the entire fourth quarter, with many desperate shots going to waste for both teams. Finally, Sedalia recovered and tied the score at 50 to 50. From that time until the final horn, the crowd was repeatedly thrilled as the lead changed hands and the score was tied several times. Both sides turned in some beautiful baskets, but the shots that missed the ring were heartbreakers. Finally with about ten seconds left to play and Sedalia holding an unsafe lead of only two points, Norman Thompson sank a free throw that gave his team a three point lead, and the game was over before Kennett had time to make two baskets.

However, the fighting squad turned in one field goal to make the final score 62 to 61, in Sedalia's favor.

Norman Thompson starred in all departments for Sedalia, with 11 field goals and 5 free throws for a total of 27 points. G. Turner led an evenly matched Kennett five with 19 points.

Windsor 33; Warrensburg 27

The Windsor-Warrensburg game saw some of the tightest and best defense of the tournament, both teams expertly switching from man-to-man to zone defense positions as the plays demanded. The game was considerably slower than the Sedalia game, and found both teams scoring on well-executed setup. The quarter score was 10 to 5 in favor of Windsor. This five-point lead proved to be the margin of lead throughout almost the entire game.

In the second quarter, Warsaw made a fast six points to tie the score at 11 all. Windsor came back just as quickly to score six for themselves, and the half ended with Windsor leading 17 to 12. Only 13 fouls had been called up to this time, indicating the more precision aspects of the game in regard to guarding and offensive maneuvers.

Both teams traded a few points and fouls in the early part of the third quarter with play becoming a little more rough. Despite their trouble on recovering rebounds and converting them into points, the Warrensburg five went ahead by one point near the end of the quarter, but Windsor recovered with a quick field goal to lead 27 to 26 at the end of the third period.

Defense became even tighter in the final quarter, with Warrensburg guarding the Windsor basket very tightly, resulting in some costly fouls, trial way through the period, at the official time out. Windsor led 30 to 27, and the only other score were three free throws to leave the final score at 33 to 27, Windsor's favor.

Allen, the tall center of Windsor, was high point man with 13, while Cartwright, a 6' 11" in height for Allen, led Warrensburg with 12 points. From a total of 34 free throws, both teams sunk half their attempts. Except for the last quarter, fouls were for the "light" type, and few in number.

Warsaw 55; Napton 43

The third game was Warsaw vs. Napton. The Warsaw team was very fast, with many desperate shots going to waste for both teams. Finally, Warsaw recovered and tied the score at 50 to 50. From that time until the final horn, the crowd was repeatedly thrilled as the lead changed hands and the score was tied several times. Both sides turned in some beautiful baskets, but the shots that missed the ring were heartbreakers. Finally with about ten seconds left to play and Sedalia holding an unsafe lead of only two points, Norman Thompson sank a free throw that gave his team a three point lead, and the game was over before Kennett had time to make two baskets.

However, the fighting squad turned in one field goal to make the final score 62 to 61, in Sedalia's favor.

Norman Thompson starred in all departments for Sedalia, with 11 field goals and 5 free throws for a total of 27 points. G. Turner led an evenly matched Kennett
